Abstract

Introduction: When treating cancer, western medicine focuses its treatment on the destruction of the diseased cells in a variety of ways, all of them unfortunately harming the healthy cells as well. From the perspective of TCM, cancer is the manifestation of the body's underlying energy imbalances. One direct way to search for the root of these energy imbalances is through the assessment of the chakra system, which offers vital information about the body's energy levels and its imbalances.

Purpose: To associate western medicine with the ancient medical traditions guidelines towards the construction of a more balanced, holistic cancer treatment plan.

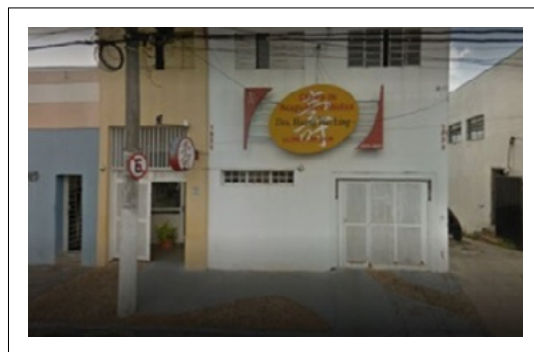

Methods: Two clinical cases of female patients (38 and 42 years old) with a clinical history of atypical cellular results in a Pap smear exam. Both patients were frightened at the possibility of cervical cancer and sought for TCM based treatment. Chinese dietary therapy and auricular acupuncture with apex ear bloodletting were done to balance the Yin, Yang, Qi, blood energies and clear the internal heat. Both patients have gone through chakras measurement, which resulted in energy completely depleted in the 7 chakras, and treatment to replace the energy of the chakras was done.

Results: Both patients normalized their previously atypical cellular results within a few days of treatment.

Conclusion: TCM believes that energy imbalances cause cancer and with chakras energy replacement treatment, as well as auricular acupuncture associated with Chinese dietary counselling, a path for prevention and treatment is provided.
