

Editorial Note | Journal of Biological and Medical Sciences

About the Journal

Journal of Biological and Medical Sciences is an open access, peer-reviewed, bi-annual, online journal that aims to promote the exchange of original knowledge and research in any area of ethnomedicine. Journal of Biological and Medical Sciences invites research articles and reviews based on original interdisciplinary studies on the inextricable relationships between human cultures and nature/universe, Traditional Environmental/Ecological Knowledge (TEK), folk and traditional medical knowledge.

About the Conference

The conference “9th World Congress on Public Health, Epidemiology and Nutrition” hosted by Conference Series was successfully completed which was held during April 08-09, 2020 with the theme “Impediment of Public Health challenges and nutrition during global COVID-19 crisis”. Benevolent response and active participation was received from the keynotes, speakers, chair persons and delegates as well as attendees from the Scientists, Doctors, Professors, Nutrition specialists, Pharmaceutical Industries, Healthcare Industries, Researchers and Students from the fields of Nutrition, epidemiology, those who involved in this successful event.

Why Special Issue

This special issue has been introduced to recognize those researchers who are with us from the starting of the Conference and kept their believe with us regarding the quality of the conference and the publication. Their continuous support make the Conference as well as the supporting journal to the conference successful and recognized by the international experts. Here in honor to those supporters, those speakers, those submitters, those researchers we are releasing the special issue with the abstracts accepted for the conference, full length articles submitted to the conference and with the short communication submitted to the conference.

Note: This special issue is nothing but a part of the conference proceeding with the full length articles submitted for the conference in honor to recognize the conference attendees and the submitters.