

eHospital Management System with Health Care

Habib Ullah Jamil

Institute of Health & Management Science Islamabad, Pakistan

Abstract

Health Care management from small clinic to large hospitals works with government or private sectors eHealthcare management system staff is the one who coordinate with day by day of medical facilities. Healthcare experts are those who are introducing new advance technologies like they introduced eHospital Sysytem. eHospital system is the most unique and from advanced technology who facilitating Nursing community with different technique. With new hospital management system Nursing can take care of their patient and their families with easy way and also eHospital system is useful for hospitals administration, legal and compliance such as all hospital operation. As our technology working faster in our medical field and our researcher doing doing hard job for advance Hospital management systems.eHopsital Systems is very useful from last couple of years in Asia also to keep patient records and there treatment information regarding their problems eHospital system is the new future of Nursing and safe time for unnecessary work with Emergency of patients. Due to Covid-19 our Nursing community and Hospital Management researcher do great job to facilitate patients and recovery of cases with advance technology of eHospital.Covid-19 totally change our life the way we were living which was never expected but our researcher works day night to control the Covid-19 with our advance eHospital.eHospital system is now need of every hospital and researcher and almost we have done great job with the help of our eHospital expert. Before eHopital system our nursing community was very busy in focusing patients emergency and there need as per there treatment but with eHopital Systems now it's very easy for all our medical staff to keep record of every moment to provide better services to patients and their families.

Biography

Habib Ullah Jamil has completed his almost 5 semesters at the age of 29 years from Institute of Health & Management Science Islamabad,Pakistan. He is the Incharge of students affairs Nursing. He has Attended more then 5 International conferences being Nursing student and represent his country and university at international platform.He has also invited many time as a moderator to get closer to international doctors and researchers for gaining knowledge and shareing experiences.He has part of Covid-19 control team memeber from Institute of Health & Management Science and contribute his efforts for the Unversity and he worked 24/7 to ensure students health and safty.