The nursing profession has become both a science and an art. Nurses use evidence based knowledge, while conveying empathy, kindness and concern, to care for patients holistically.

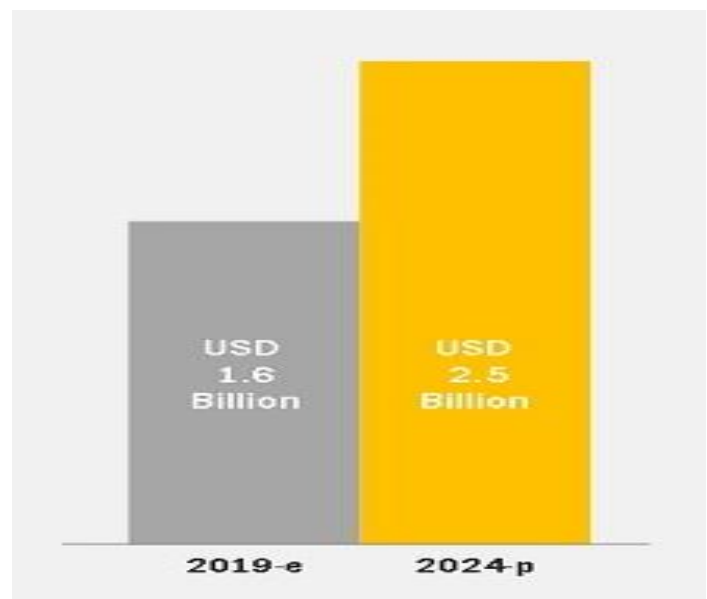

Nurses also play the role of educator, teaching patients and families ways to maintain optimal health by promoting wellness, educating about medications, health problems and measures to prevent complications from diseases.

A nurse promotes, advocates for, and strives to protect the health, safety, and rights of the patient. Whether calling attention to a potential medication error, helping the rest of the health care team hear a patient's voice or shaping policy by speaking from first-hand experience, patient advocacy is fundamental to nursing
